McMILLAN NOT A CANDIDATE. Formal Announcement Made at Detroit, Mich., Today.

William C. McMillan announced at Detroit Saturday that he will not be a candidate for the United States Senate to succeed his father, the late James McMillan. The conclusion was definitely reached after a conference between Mr. McMillan and a number of his most prominent political friends. Mr. McMillan gave out the following statement:

"The necessity imposed on the next legislature of filling the vacancy in the United States Senate, caused by the death of Sena-tor McMillan, has brought before the republicans the question of his successor. I have been urged by many friends to become a candidate for this vacancy.

"Yet, however flattering these expressions are to me personally, I am strongly im-pressed that the best interests of the party will be advanced if I am not a candidate, and I therefore publicly announce that I am not, and shall not be, a candidate to fill this vacancy.

"This decision will not to any degree diminish my interest in the welfare of the republican party; but I shall continue to

So Says Chairman Griggs of the Democratic Committee.

LIVING COSTS TOO MUCH

WAGES HAVE NOT INCREASED IN PROPORTION.

Campaign Cry of Republicans Combatted by Tables of Wages and Prices of Foods.

Chairman Griggs of the democratic congressional committee spent a few days in Vashington last week. Before returning o New York yesterday Mr. Griggs dictated an interview, in which he combats the republican argument of prosperity by an enleavor to show that the price of living has ncreased to a higher level than the wages of the working man.

In this connection Mr. Griggs says: "The man with a fixed income from wages or salary has been having his income chopped ever since 1897 by the increase in prices. Every man knows whether his income has been increased during the past three or four years. If it has not been increased from 10 to 100 per cent, then he is osing money compared to his condition in 1897 and 1898, and that in 1902. Massachusetts Prices

"Take, for instance, the thirty-second annual report of the Massachusetts bureau of statistics of labor. That is a document compiled by good republicans. It shows the purchase power of a dollar for the years 1897 and 1902 on a number of articles of daily necessity in the domestic economy of the average man's home. In 1902 a dollar will buy less than in 1897 of the following articles by the following percentages:

10½ per cent less 10½ per cent less 10½ per cent less 17½ per cent less 8 per cent less 7 per cent less 23½ per cent less 17½ per cent less 11½ per cent less 11½ per cent less Common soap..... Roasting beef.... Soup beef. Rump steak beef... Corn beef... Starch. Corn beet

"This report also contains a table of the arnings of the head of a family and their relation to the family expenditures. It comprehends the earnings and expenditures of 152 heads of families. The average weekly wage of 114 family heads is shown to be $13.75. In the other thirty-eight cases average weekly wage amounts to $11.31, the total yearly earnings of the head averaging for the 152 families $594. In twenty-one in stances, the earnings of the head exceed-ed the amount expended. In four instances, the accounts balance, and in 127 instances, however, about four-fifths of the entire number, the earnings of the head were insufficient to meet the family expenditure.

"Does this look like prosperity for the workingmen? It must be remembered also that these figures were compiled in 1901, and the report issued early this year. The prices on all these necessaries of life are now much higher than in 1901. Especially is this true of coal both being manipulated by a trust.

A Miner's Views.

"In proof of this, I submit the following letter from a miner in West Virginia: "FAYETTE, Fayette County, W. Va.,

"August 19, 1902. Hon, J. H. Griggs, Chairman Democratic Congressional Committee, Washington.

"Dear Sir: I take it that you are interested in trust prices and I send you the prices that a laboring man has to pay today for the necessaries of life, as compared with the prices of 1898. I am a coal miner and have been for twenty-seven years. Under this supposed 'prosperity' that we now hear so much about, I have received an in-crease of 20 per cent in wages, but have been on a strike, together with other min-ers, for now nearly three months, striking for an increase of wages in keeping with the prices we have to pay for the necessaries of life, and for recognition of our union, which seems to be the only hope that labor (outside of voting right) has in these days of this 'imaginary prosperity' and 'government by injunction.' In 1902, I have to pay so cents per gailon for oil that I use in the mines, but the cans only hold three quarts. Everything else is in proportion, itemized as follows, for the years 1898 and 1902:

"These are the prices that the average workingman pays now and what they had to pay in 1898. I trust that this statement may be of service in opening the eyes of the laboring men of this country, so that when they go to vote against the trust and the party that makes it possible for them to rob the laboring men by charging them these outrageous prices, and if they make any complaint enjoin them from walking on the earth. Truly yours,

Mr. C. W. Osenton of Fayetteville, W. Va., a member of this committee. A glance at these figures show an increase in the cost of living for the workingman of from 50 per cent to 325 per cent in the past four years. Has any man's income been in-creased that much in that length of time? If not he is having a whole lot of 'pros-

Senator Simmons Gets Views.

"I also have a letter from Senator Simmons of North Carolina, inclosing me a statement from Mr. F. P. Sajes, chief of the sanitary department of the city of Raleigh, N. C., who says that he interviewed a number of people on this subject, with the following results:
"Mr. C. F. Cook, a printer employed by the News and Observer Publishing Com-pany, says that the present prices of arti-cles, such as beef, bulk meat, lard, flour and commeal, are about one-third higher now than three years ago, and that his wages have not been increased during that "Mr. H. J. Heiling, janitor of the Tucker building in that city, makes the same state-ment, and Mr. C. E. Crawford of Crawford & Sons, butchers of that city, make the statement that beef and pork are one-third higher now than three years ago.

"All of this goes to show that the cry of prosperity' and the 'full dinner pail' for the workingmen is a fake and fraud.

"If they call this 'well enough' why, then let it alone; if not they will vote the democratic ticket and strike a blow at the trusts that are lowering wages by increas-ing the cost of living." Rockville and Vicinity.

Samuel L. Gray, Henry T. Freeman. WHO SENT THE FLAG?

Ambassador McCormick at Vienna

Instructed to Learn the Facts. With a view to learning the facts in the case, Acting Secretary Adee has instructed Mr. McCormick, our ambassador at Vienna, to ascertain from whom came the flag which was recently presented to the United Hungarian Societies in New York, and which is reported to have been the gift of the Austrian government. It is said that while there is a precedent for the bestowal of such a flag by Emperor William in sending a German standard to the Chicago singing societies several years ago, the present case is reported to differ in the fact that the Austrian flag bore the inscription "Be Loyal to Your Fatherland; O. Magyars!" Mr. Adee's action is not in the nature of complaint but simply to ascertain the facts, for it is believed to be probable that the flag came from some political organization or individuals rather than from the Austrian government itself.

Where Pain Most Hurts.

From Pearson's Weekly. Which part of the human body is the most sensitive to pain?

A sharp definition must be drawn here between irritation and pain. Irritation is ty days after his removal." not pain, but only a frequent cause of it. Thus, a crumb lodged in the larynx near the vocal cords produces violent irritation and prolonged coughing, which often results in actual pain. So, too, a fly or speck of dust in the eye sets up violent irritation and inflammation, followed by acute pain. Of the surface of the body, the finger tips and the end of the tongue are most sensitive. For instance, a burn on the fingers is much more painful than one on the back would be, while one on the tongue would be more painful still.

Deep wounds are not painful, as a rule, save as regards the surface injury. Of pains not caused by external injuries, neuralgia of the fifth nerve, the one which supplies the skin of the head and face, is the most intense. It has frequently driven people mad for the time being, and suf-ferers have been known to cut and even burn the flesh in desperate attempts to re-The rupture of the branches of the dental nerve in tooth drawing also causes agony so intense that it has been stated that no human being could endure it for more than two seconds at a time.

American Education.

From the London Chronicks. A careful study of these reports is cal-culated to fill the English educationist with a sense of profound humiliation. The lines of advance which American education has followed may not always satisfy him any more than they always satisfy the American, but what cannot fail to impress him is the general enthusiasm for education, the vitality and capacity for growth which mark the system, the incessant striving after better methods and higher ideals that appears to distinguish both teachers and taught. Though the educational advantages provided vary a good deal in different states—for it is as well to remember that the system of education in the United States is not national in any sense, but that each state provides and supervises its own sys-tem in entire independence—yet, underlying all differences of method, there is an essential unity of aim, which is "to make democratic education universally accessible, and by means of it to lift up the whole population to a higher plane of intelligence, conduct and be probage?" conduct and happiness."

John Lomax Apparently Indifferent Regarding His Fate.

WAS CONVICTED RECENTLY OF A GRAVE CRIME.

Registration of Voters Under New Constitution Begun-Police Court Cases — General News.

Evening Star Bureau, No. 701 King Street. Bell Telephone No. 106. ALEXANDRIA, Va., September 8, 1902. John Lomax, colored, who will be hanged tomorrow at Montross, Va., for attempted criminal assault, appears to be fully resign ed to his fate. He manifests neither grie! nor fear at the early approach of death. If he is really able to understand his position, and if life is at all dear to him, his stoicism is remarkable. But those who have closely observed the condemned youth since his imprisonment in the Alexandria city jail are convinced that his intelligence is of such a low order and his ignorance so dense that he has no adequate conception at Upper Marlboro' tomorrow, and will of the hereafter, and that his attitude toward his approaching execution is one of brute-like indifference. Lomax will be conveyed to Westmoreland county this evenof Maryland, which convenes at Cross ing. It is expected that the trip will be o'clock and reaching Nomini wharf tomorrow morning early. He will be in charge of the county sheriff and several deputies. The new order intends that none but actually officers shall be detailed to the made by steamer, leaving here about 5 where he committed the crime for which he is to forfeit his life—that of attempted criminal assault on Miss Susie Costen-bader, daughter of Mr. Robert Costen-

When seen by a Star reporter in his cell this morning the condemned man was shining his shoes in preparation for his last journey on earth. He seemed to take real interest in the arrangements, even to the saying that it would commence this afternoon. He was not disposed to talk much, stating to Jaller Candler that he had nothing more to give the newspapers. However, he answered all questions in a straightforward manner. He was guilty, he said, of the charge for which he was to die, but as to the justice of his punishment he was not prepared to express an opinion, contenting himself with saying that he did not know whether or not he ought to be hung. He declared he was going to tell the up to the last moment. He intended to confess his guilt upon the scaffold. Ready for Death. When questioned as to his attitude toward death he said he was ready. He had long talks yesterday in his cell with Rev. Alexander Truatt and Rev. Mr. Cummings, colored ministers of this city. They read and prayed with the prisoner and endeavored to fix his mind upon spiritual matters, with apparent success. However, the instability of the boy's mind was never better shown than in the conflicting statements which he made with a show of candor and truth to both ministers. To the Rev. Cummings he said he was innocent, but not twenty minutes later he acknowledged being guilty as charged when questioned by Mr. Truatt. He repeated this morning the statements as to his age which he first made.. His sixteenth birthday, he said, was in last April. He had never been to school, could neither read nor write, and, in fact, was altogether without the slightest bit of education. Be-fore he came to Alexandria he had never seen a railroad locomotive. Since his im-prisonment, he said, not one of his relatives had taken any notice of him. He has a mother and brothers and sisters, but they had not come to see him nor had they sent him any message.

New Registration Commenced. The work of compiling the new registration books for the city of Alexandria in accordance with the suffrage provisions of the present state constitution was commenced here at noon today, when the registrars for the first ward met at the regular voting place on Prince street. For fifteen business days the board will meet at noon and remain ready to enroll names until 9 o'clock p.m. The registration in the sec-ond ward will begin tomorrow, and in the third and fourth wards it will be com-menced Monday, the 22d instant. In each case the hours of opening and closing and the period of continuance will be the same. Local leaders of both parties are await-ing the result with interest. The colored vote here under the old constitution was nearly one-third of the entire vote, and was cast almost without exception on the republican side. The enforcement of the new regulations, it is expected, will greatly reduce the number of those voters.

A general lack of correct information as to the present requirements has been noted. Section 18 of article 2 of the new constitution, relating to the elective franchise and qualifications for office, is as follows: "Every male citizen of the United States, twenty-one years of age, who has been a resident of the state two years, of the county, city or town one year, and of the precinct in which he offers to vote thirty days next preceding the election in which he offers to vote, has been registered and has paid his state poll taxes, as hereinafter required, shall be entitled to vote for mem-bers of the general assembly and all officers elective by the people; but removal from one precinct to another in the same county, city or town shall not deprive any person of his right to vote in the precinct from which he has removed until the expiration of thir-

Relates to Registration. Section 19, relating to registration in this and the succeeding year, closes as follows: "At such registration every male citizen of the United States having the qualifications of age and residence required in section 18 shall be entitled to register, if he be:

"First-A person who, prior to the adoption of this constitution, served in time of war in the army or navy of the United States, of the confederate states or of any state of the United States or of the confederate states: or.

"Second—A son of any such person; or,
"Third—A person who owns property upon which, for the year next preceeding that in which he offers to register, state taxes aggregating at least $1 have been paid; or,
"Fourth—A person able to read any section of this constitution submitted to him by the officers of registration, and to give reasonable explanation of the same; or, if unable to read such section, able to un-derstand and give a reasonable explana-tion thereof when read to him by the officers.

MILITARY INSTRUCTION.

Army Officers.

Policy to Be Employed in Detailing

Several important changes in the system of details of army officers for duty at private educational institutions are made in the regulations governing such details just issued by the War Department. According to an official statement prepared at the department in explanation of the revised system it has long been recognized by army officers that the land grant and agricultural colleges, where military instruction is required, presented fine fields for the development of young men for future service for their country.

At the outbreak of the war with Spain a great many of the young men were selected from these schools for appointment in the regular army and a much larger number sought service in the volunteers, where their knowledge of drills was of much valuè.

The new order undertakes to divide these institutions into three classes: First, those which have an optional military course; second, those agricultural colleges which are required by law to include military ive young officers shall be detailed to the schools in the third class. It is also one of the desirable things that the officers shall be graduates of one of the service schools and shall have been recom-mended by their commanding officers as especially fitted for this duty. The details will hereafter be made for a period of two years for the active officers and the detail for retired officers, when made, will be for four years. Officers detailed in the future will be sent to the institution two weeks prior to the departure of their predecessors in order to acquaint themselves with existing conditions. During the present year schools which already have retired officers will not be disturbed, but it is contemplated to have the order in full force at the end of the coming school year.

Heretofore the department has had much difficulty, from time to time, concerning these details because many of the institu-tions appear to consider it sufficient to have it announced in their catalogues that an army officer is detailed as instructor, although no particular attention was given to the military branch. In the future, when an application is made for the detail of an officer at any institution to which an officer has not heretofore been assigned, an inspector will be sent to explain to the faculty the requirements of the department and to satisfy himself as to the intention and ability of the school authorities to comply with the requirements. It is intended to have annual inspections made of the schools having army officers as instructors, and any institution which fails to come up to the standard required will be deprived of the services of the instructor by his withdrawal, and no instructor will be al-lowed at any institution, under any circumstances, which does not guarantee to maintain at least one hundred pupils under military instruction.

This order is intended to do away with the perfunctory performance of military duty at colleges and to so classify them that the department as well as the parents ing men contemplating attending such institutions may be fully informed as to the real character of the military instruction.

THE MANCHURIAN RAILWAY.

Interesting Information Furnished by Commercial Agent Greener. Interesting information concerning the Manchurian railway is contained in a report made to the State Department by Commercial Agent R. T. Greener of Vladivostock. He says that by the terms of agreement the shareholders were to be confined to Russians and Chinese, the gauge was to be five feet, and the work to be begun within twelve months from the signing of the agreement and completed in six years. At the end of eighty years the road was to become the property of the Chinese government, with the proviso that China was not to be responsible for losses during this period and with the option of taking the road at the end of thirty-six years by paying the costs, debts and interest; any surplus, after payment of shareholders, to be added to capital and deducted from cost of line to be paid by China. The Russian-Chinese Bank was organized to have charge of the finances. Work was commenced May 28, 1897, simultaneously from the east and the northwest 110 versts (72.9 miles) from Nikolsk and 324 versts (214.8 miles) from the boundary of Manchuria. A branch line was begun early in the spring of 1898, three miles above Niuchwang, running east a distance of seventeen miles, and com-pleted in May, 1899. used at all points. The loss and delay to but Dole has absolutely refused to call a the road occasioned by the Boxer outbreak session, and it is thought that he will concan hardly be computed, and when work was resumed it was under the protection of Cossack troops. In 1901 construction trains were running over all the sections and the whole system was open to temporary traffic in November, 1991. In December of the same year a regular mail service was organized, the trip from Harbin to Port Arthur being made by an official in thirty-six

The road was formally opened to the public January 1, 1902. The committee of experts has estimated the total cost of the road up to January 14, 1902, to be 160,000,000 rubles ($82,000,000). The receipts from July 1 to November 9, 1901, as reported, were 1,447,441 rubles ($745,432). Passenger and baggage traffic figured at 188,286 rubles ($96,967); freight traffic, 955,379 rubles ($492,020); sundries and government service, 383,776 rubles ($197,645).

A daily train is scheduled to leave Manchuria station for Vladivostock via Harbin (time, 112 hours) and for Port Arthur (time, both the government trains and also on the International Litoral Company's train. By autumn it is expected that there will be six of the former and three of the latter.

HAWAIIAN AFFAIRS

To Be Investigated by Senate Commission.

THE CROWN LANDS CASE

A HUNTING TRIP WITH POSSIBLE POLITICAL CONSEQUENCES

Serious Dilemma Faces the Government in the Exhaustion of Circuit Court Funds.

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star. HONOLULU, T. H., August 26, 1902. The last steamer from San Francisco brought to Honolulu Senator Burton of Kansas, the forerunner of a Senate commission which is to spend about a month here, and ex-Senator Thurston of Nebraska, who comes to Hawall in connection with the Kohala irrigation ditch bill, which was a good deal discussed in committee during the last session of Congress. Senator Thurston represents the opposition to the measure. He is accompanied by Mrs. Thurston and his secretary, Carroll Pur-

Senator Burton came ahead of the rest of the commission for the purpose of enjoying a vacation, and arrangements had been made for a hunting trip, on which he was the guest of Mr. Sam Parker. The party left on a steamer chartered by Parker for the Island of Hawaii, where they are now enjoying the hunt. Burton, and Thurston also, as well as their wives, speak with great enthusiasm of the attractions of the territory, and the Nebraska senator has accepted an invitation to address a campaign meeting under the auspices of the Young Men's Republican Club of Honolulu next Saturday evening.

"We have come here to look into the needs and requirements of the territory," is what Senator Burton had to say of the commission of which he is a member. "Congress is well disposed toward Hawaii, but it was felt to be necessary that matters be investigated on the ground. There is a wide field to be covered, social and economical. We shall not have anything to do with pol

The Senate Commission's Inquiry.

The other members of the commission are to arrive here on September 2. It is understood that one of the principal objects of the trip is to investigate the claims of the ex-queen to the crown lands, which the Dole government took from her after the revolution of 1893. The ex-queen has ever since been trying to recover them, or an equivalent in money, but first the republic of Hawaii and then the territorial government stood firm on the proposition that she is not entitled to anything. It is largely a question of law, the queen claiming the lands as her own, while, on the other side, it is held that the crown lands were the property of the monarch as a monarch, and not of the individual who happened to occupy the throne. The monarchy having ceased to exist, it was claimed that the lands should be public lands.

Senator Burton's trip to the Island of Hawaii is supposed to be for pleasure alone and the commission is supposed to be altogether out of politics, but it is impossible to disassociate a man altogether from the company he keeps, and the comment is passed in Honolulu that there is a decided home-rule flavor about the Burton hunting party. The men who were at the wharf to bid the party godspeed included Edgar Caypless, Senator Kalauokalani, Represen tatives Prendergast and Mossman and oth ers, who are rabid home rulers, while Parker himself, though a republican, is not a supporter of the Dole government. first impressions of Hawall received by Senator Burton, at least, will be from the home-rule side. He is expected back in Honolulu in time to meet the other members of the commission

An Awkward Situation.

When the commissioners begin their investigations they will find a situation worthy of attention in the first circuit courts. Months ago it was stated that Judges Humphreys and Gear were trying to force an extra session of the legislaturethe one great desire of all home rulers-by exhausting the appropriation for the circuit court's current expenses. Now the funds have given out, and Hawaii appears to be without courts of justice, as far as criminal matters are concerned. When the fund gave out, Judge Humph-reys, in a conference with Governor Dole, in which all the judges of the first circultook part, proposed a way out of the difficulty, declaring that the auditor had been drawing on the wrong fund for bailiffs' salaries. He made a demand on the auditor for a transfer of funds and appealed to the supreme court when the auditor re-fused it. The supreme court ruled against his contentions, and this leaves the courts without a cent for their expenses and a session of the legislature six months away. The dilemma is a most serious one, and Governor Dole has again been appealed to. Judge Gear stated on the bench yesterday that the governor, who has jurisdiction over the only body able to provide funds, was the one to assume responsibility. This is a hint that the executive, by calling the leg-In October communication was established between Dalny and Niuchwang. From that time work was pushed all along the line. tinue to stand firm against it.

The republican convention for the nomination of a candidate for delegate to Con-gress will be held in Honolulu next Monday evening. There seems to be much likelihood that Mr. A. G. M. Robertson, a representative in the last house, will be a candidate. He is a young lawyer, born in Hawall, a graduate of Yale. The principal objections urged against him are that only a Hawallan can be elected, and that Robertson will prove unpopular with many Hawalians on account of his having been the prosecut-ing attorney for the new government against the royalists involved in the abortive revolution of '95.

Rhinoplastic Surgery. From the Medical Journal.

Persons who are unfortunate enough to have lost their noses can get sightly if not altogether useful substitutes by sacrificing the ring finger. A Russian surgeon, Vreden, contrived an operation by means of which that digit is fastened to the remnants of the nose in such a manner that the three last phalanges, bone and all, are made to assume as near as possible the shape of the missing member, the tip being formed by the bend of the articulation between the first and second phalanges. The operation consists of two parts, one—the attachment of the finger, and the other, performed four weeks later, the severence of the digit and the final adjustment of the artificial nose. The operation had been performed on two persons under local anesthesia with what the author considers considerable success

Capture of Washington. From the London Chronicle.

Now that there is so much goodwill between ourselves and the United States, it is not without a feeling of surprise that we recall the fact that there must be men living who remember the capture of Washington by a British army on August 24, 1814. The successful commander, Ross, seeing that he must quickly retire, ordered the destruction of the "President's palace," the Capitol, treasury and other government buildings-an order which was long resented by the Americans. General Ross fell in an action before Baltimore a few weeks later, and his family received from the king an "honorable augmentation" of their name, being styled "Ross of Bladensburg ever after.
